

Berni Bishop once again hosts a brilliant night of music for anyone who enjoys a good session

Session B Line Up 19th November 2010

Berni Bishop

www.myspace.com/bernibishopmusic

Berni Bishop is a singer / songwriter.

"Berni has an exceptional voice, a tremendous stage presence and brought a rare glamour to our stage when she played this month. She, her band and audience were all delightful and we'd book them again anytime."

- The Good Ship

Scott Fuller

<http://www.scottfullermusic.co.uk/>

With an undying love for David Bowie and Nick Cave, Scott brings a lyrical priority to his music.

"I consider myself first and foremost a lyricist. That's my driving force when I write a song. Language is such a fascinating tool. It can tell stories, it can emote, it can be poetic.

Simon Garrard

<http://www.myspace.com/simongarrard>

Simon Garrard is a singer/songwriter from London who blends his moving, often anti-establishment lyrics with his alt-folk music. Originally from Surrey he moved to Australia where he started gigging seriously around Melbourne after his first performance at the Old Bar on Brunswick Street. His time down under honed his laid back acoustic style but his lyrics retained their bitter poetry.

Lisa Jane Gregory and Heather Weir

www.lisajaneandheather.com

Lisa Jane Gregory is a singer who mainly works in musical theatre. She has travelled the world and performed for international audiences, although will always return home to South East London. Mainly influenced by the West End she is interested in the works of contemporary artists in all styles and genres of music. She often likes to merge various musical styles having had a go at most of them.

<http://www.richroguearts.com/index.html>

Heather Weir is a singer, actor and musician. With an extensive performing career, she also works with contemporary musical theatre writers and composers developing their material. She studied singing and piano at Trinity College of Music London, is a voice specialist with theatre companies and is a lecturer at London Drama Schools. She helped found Rich Rogue Arts which have just released their first album "Sondheim Duets – It Takes Two".

The Strumpets

<http://thestrumpets.co.uk>

Dominic Spitzer and Corrie-Anne Burton. Acoustic dance/rock duo on guitar, uke and mandolin based in South East London. We're not actually pets, that would be awesome. But with the same innocent cheer and less of the drool. Operating on the basis of how the following acts would sound in a power cut (Def Leppard, Urban Cookie Collective, Cheap Trick, New Order, Kiss) we set out to write enjoyable, sing-a-long-able acoustic tunes in a veritable buffet of styles. Some might call it 'Acoustic-Crossover'.

James Oldfield

<http://www.facebook.com/pages/James-Oldfield-Music/102340313151359?ref=ts>

"I started writing acoustic songs when I was about 14, and never stopped. I've got my self sorted with a place to record my songs myself so I got my act together and started making my first E.P to promote with some gigs. So keep a look out for when I complete the E.P and also, Keep a look out for some of my gigs. Hopefully I will see you there."

www.myspace.com/bernibishopmusic